The Magic of L.A.'s '60s Music Scene Beautifully Recaptured By Mr. Los Angeles This fun and fascinating compilation of interviews, stories and photographs beautifully recaptures the memorable music scene of 1960s Los Angeles. Harvey Kubernik is to be highly commended for bringing so many of the key elements together, especially the record industry people and musicians who were instrumental in producing and creating the music. All told, I highly recommend this book to anyone who has a treasured memory or experience from the era, and would love to recapture those special times once again.--Mr. Los Angeles / June, 2013

Sonny Cher, the Doors, the Monkees, the Byrds, Buffalo Springfield, Joni Mitchell, Jackson Browne; Crosby, Stills, Nash Young; the Eagles, Carole King, and others cultivated their immortal sounds in this L.A.-based musical fraternity. Written by a long-time Canyon resident who knows them all, Canyon of Dreams traces the history of the community and its enduring legacy. Taking a deeply personal approach, it uses a multiple-voice narration based on exclusive interviews with the area's musical elite. Because of their close connection with Kubernik, some of these stars are speaking openly for the first time. New in paper.
