Barbara Hinkson Craig : Chadha: The Story of an Epic Constitutional Struggle before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Chadha: The Story of an Epic Constitutional Struggle:

0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Excellent By Thomas G. Field, Jr. Craig does a great job of filling in the background on a very important case. Too bad it is out of print.

In 1973 Jagdish Chadha found himself a man without a country, the victim of the decolonization of Kenya where, as a

Kenyan of Indian descent, he was not allowed to return after having spent six years in the U.S. as a student. Barbara Hinkson Craig describes Chadha's effort to achieve legal residency in the U.S. and shows how it led to the Supreme Court decision to overrule the legislative veto, adjusting the balance of powers in the United States government.

"A fine book that deserves a wide audience."--Norman Ornstein, "Washington Post Book World" About the Author Barbara Hinkson Craig is Professor of Government, Wesleyan University and the author of The Legislative Veto: Congressional Control of Legislation.
