NicholsI lived in Phu Bai, RVN in '68/'69 and never saw a flush toilet as claimed in this book. I was with the 1st MIBn, 45th MID/Det E and flew with the 220th RAC (aka the 220th Aviation Co.) from Phu Bai. Outhouses with diesel fuel filled drums were the best we ever had. The 220th's living quarters looked much like ours. Maybe they had flush toilets but I doubt it. In wartime remembrances details matter.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. BiasBy usmarine351I am a bit bias as I am in this book. There are a few sections i find not very accurate. I feel that one individual made himself out to be more, than of a saver than the events tell. Over all this book is right on and well written.1 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Really a book written primarily from letters written from Vietnam.By D. S. Leak, IIIAll controllers had their medical certificates just like pilots do as well. but they are different in some ways from those for pilots

After visiting the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. and reflecting on the name of a distant cousin, first-time author Gary Hook set out to discover the man he had never known and what happened to him during the war. He searched for and found his cousin's closest relatives, friends and fellow soldiers with whom his cousin served during the war. Through extensive personal interviews and key government documents the author uncovered a story of gripping air combat, heroic sacrifice, and a terrible secret that lay hidden for more than thirty years.

About the AuthorGary Hook studied English at the University of California at Berkeley and law at Golden Gate University in San Francisco. He is a practicing lawyer and lives in Pleasant Hill, California with his wife Cathy.
