

[Download] Unmaking Race and Ethnicity: A Reader

Unmaking Race and Ethnicity: A Reader

Michael O. Emerson, Jenifer L. Bratter, Sergio Chávez
DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

#540657 in Books Emerson Michael O 2016-07-20Original language:EnglishPDF # 1 7.40 x .90 x 9.10l,
#File Name: 0190202718512 pagesUnmaking Race and Ethnicity A Reader | File size: 42.Mb

Michael O. Emerson, Jenifer L. Bratter, Sergio Chávez : Unmaking Race and Ethnicity: A Reader before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Unmaking Race and Ethnicity: A Reader:

Race and ethnicity is a contentious topic that presents complex problems with no easy solutions. (Un)Making Race and Ethnicity: A Reader, edited by Michael O. Emerson, Jenifer L. Bratter, and Sergio Chávez, helps instructors and students connect with primary texts in ways that are informative and interesting, leading to engaging discussions and interactions. With more than thirty collective years of teaching experience and research in race and ethnicity, the editors have chosen selections that will encourage students to think about possible solutions to solving the problem of racial inequality in our society. Featuring global readings throughout, (Un)Making Race and Ethnicity covers both race and ethnicity, demonstrating how they are different and how they are related. It includes a section dedicated to unmaking racial and ethnic orders and explains challenging concepts, terms, and references to enhance student learning.

"Providing a reader that is global and reflexive yet does not shy away from the serious problems of existing racial and ethnic oppression is not an easy task. The authors have accomplished this...I would recommend this reader to my colleagues. I believe that they would find value in the book's fresh approach to helping instructors teach race and ethnic oppression in America and on a global level. The reader offers instructors the opportunity to address the question, "What is to be done?" It also allows instructors to move beyond the U.S.-centric scholarship that is often present in race/ethnicity readers and textbooks...This reader has cutting-edge content that I can use, is current, and has a useful global component that is lacking in other texts." --David G. Embrick, Loyola University-Chicago

"The book approaches race and ethnicity as it is understood in the United States as well as in a global context. This is unique. I like that ethnicity is well incorporated throughout the book and not tacked on at the end like it is in many other readers. I also like that global issues are well integrated throughout." --Katie Acosta, Georgia State University

"This book deals with race and ethnicity in equal parts while drawing the reader in with both personal essays and solutions interwoven throughout the book. Solutions are often placed in race and ethnicity books as a concluding chapter instead of central to all readings. I like approach of this book. It is unique and is carried out in an effective manner...This reader has the potential to be one of the top race readers...I would highly recommend this to my colleagues." --Kris Marsh, University of Maryland

"Very student-centered and down-to-earth...I think this reader is superior to a lot of the existing books, especially in its global focus. [Strengths include its] global approach, emphasis on un-making race, [and] inclusion of introductory essays." --Robin Ryle, Hanover College

About the Author Michael O. Emerson is Provost and Professor of Sociology at North Park University and Senior Fellow at Rice University's Kinder Institute for Urban Research. Jennifer L. Bratter is Associate Professor of Sociology and Director of the Program for the Study of Ethnicity, Race, and Culture at the Kinder Institute for Urban Research at Rice University. Sergio Chávez is Assistant Professor of Sociology at Rice University. He is the author of Border Lives: Fronterizos, Transnational Migrants, and Commuters in Tijuana (OUP, 2016).